Funke Medical receives further recognition: Honorary Plaque 2026 at the "Großer Preis des Mittelstandes"

Raesfeld, October 2026 – Following its recognition with the "Großer Preis des Mittelstandes", Funke Medical GmbH, based in Raesfeld, is delighted to have received another special honour: Last weekend, the company was presented with the Honorary Plaque 2026.

The Honorary Plaque is awarded to the three prize winners that particularly impressed the jury and have distinguished themselves through the sustainable and remarkable development of their companies. For Funke Medical, the award is therefore a special acknowledgement of the path it has chosen and its continuous corporate development.

The "Großer Preis des Mittelstandes" already recognised Funke Medical's sustainable practices, social responsibility and successful development. The Honorary Plaque now bestowed on the company further emphasises this recognition in a very special way.

Over the past decades, Funke Medical has evolved from a regional supplier into an internationally active manufacturer of medical devices. Today, the company focuses on innovative solutions for nursing care, rehabilitation, and pressure ulcer prevention and treatment. At the same time, the company consistently pursues a sustainable corporate and product strategy and continuously invests in modern manufacturing technologies, new product concepts, and the training and professional development of its employees.

"The Honorary Plaque is a very special form of recognition for us because it honours not only individual achievements, but the sustainable development of our company as a whole," explains Managing Director Dr Ramona König. "We are extremely proud of this. Above all, this success is the result of the daily work, dedication and team spirit of our entire workforce. We would like to express our sincere thanks to all our employees."

For Funke Medical, this further distinction is both confirmation and motivation to continue resolutely along its chosen path. Guided by the principle "Creating a Valuable Life", the company will continue to develop innovative and sustainable solutions that improve the quality of life of people in care settings and support nursing professionals and family caregivers in their daily work.
