Our trainees for the year 2024

Raesfeld, 10th June 2024

Funke Medical GmbH from Raesfeld offers apprenticeships and dual study programmes in both technical and administrative fields. In the past, many young people have successfully completed their apprenticeship with us.

Also this year, young people have decided to start an apprenticeship at Funke Medical GmbH. Vicky Madoyan will start her training as a technical product designer in August. Timo Jäker is about to take his intermediate examination as an industrial clerk, as he has been with the company since last year. Celine Kunter is looking forward to successfully completing her dual study programme as a media designer in the course of next year. In addition, three young men aged between 20 and 24 have decided to start an apprenticeship in the technical field at Funke Medical GmbH and have left their home country Indonesia to do so. They are using the opportunity to receive qualified training at Funke Medical GmbH.

Ivan Gautama and Jan Pasaribu will be trained as machine and plant operators over a period of two years and James Manurug will receive a three-year training programme as a technician in heavy-duty fabric goods manufacturing.

A new phase of life begins for every trainee with their apprenticeship, but for these trainees the first time was particularly exciting. They not only had to find their way around the production facilities at Funke Medical GmbH, but also in Raesfeld and the surrounding area. Living together as a flat-sharing community in the company flat and attending the vocational schools in Bocholt and Cologne were also new. In the meantime, these trainees have also settled in well and are looking to the future with confidence.

Funke Medical GmbH wishes all trainees and dual students success in their chosen educational path and is glad to support young talents.
